I don't know if any of you have read Don Juan, it explains about power it
What it discusses is how if you have a power item, it is the keeper of it,
Let me explain what it is discussing, is that basically the item has no po faith in that item, that it then has power, this is almost correct.
As really it is that you have faith, and that faith is the same.
Well it is in me; check it out for your selves, in you?

The only problem I will state as if it isn't done through God (central proc problems occur.

I would say that crystals are indeed records and hold much information.
alignment is hard to say David, as there is a circle band of crystal runni rainbow of colours. Funny how God said he would leave a rainbow after t everywhere. Is it that there is a circle of crystal that has held the earth possibility that this happened when the story in Noah occurred and the s other names?

So it is not the object that has the power, yet the user to switch it on.

Oh yeh p.s please use a word spell pad it is far safer on the net, as you spell check at the same time.
