Well God created DNA first of all. I would never even imagine or conside why do I have parents with any genetic attribute. Why that brings up free must be missing some thing there.

Who cares what color Adam and Eve were? Not me. Not an important issu it one. I am sick of hearing that question and sick of people saying beca bones of a certain race and that they are older than any bones ever foun mankind. Everyone wants to lay claim to their race being the beginning o God breathed life into us. Yes we were made from the dirt of the ground. image. Not identical but similar. Sounds wild? Well a lot of religions hav same story because God created a lot of people after Adam and Eve were So then begs the question, if this is so, when God covered the earth with was the only one left. What race were they? Gee think that God might ha more people.

I don't know if dirt has DNA but all the properties that are in dirt are wh the mineral ect... required to keep us alive through our food (that grows

So on the other hand explain to me how in the universe we just evolved o existance without a God to create us?

God is THE spirit and He has always been here. The probabilities that w are unbelieveable. It is much more likely that we were created.
