Summary: In the same as the difference between the sheep and the goats changing your language on this one word; can then change your future across to others.

Many people never notice this and only use the word but , well if we not into things, and so perhaps we should look at what it does to the way we I use to use it and then realized this; so then looked at the context at which It contradicts all of the last statement you just made, like this:

Quote:

you re a really nice person and I like you allot for taking the trouble to r understood?

I blatantly just stopped all that last sentence about you being nice, so h for you, within my own wording.

Hopefully that begins to let you see how much it stops things, now by ch either also or yet as you now see me use allot, then have a look at th sentence:

Quote:

you re a really nice person and I like you allot for taking the trouble to r understood?

You see that continues and allows you too also.

you see if you do that on conscious level of the way you communicate, t other people expect of you.

When you are constantly saying but in fact you are not saying anything get much done in life, down to that one word&. as you were going to but,

It has to stop and to make the change is a conscious decision, we can al always, to look for the option out side of the box as you speak&.

As if even in mid sentence and then you stop on the word yet , you allow speaking with, to finish the sentence and to continue also.

Now when this is taken in to account, we can also have a look at the diff

(John, Paul, Simon) whom all use but too much and Yeshua. Yeshua used yet very much in his wording and also, and this etc. all the other people listening to also look more beyond and not stop mid flow. In Paul's case it is so winding with butts at every twist and turn, it is v where it is heading. As it will stop mid flow in what he is saying, to continue a statement again. So making it more like a snake to read, in my opinion.

So spend the time think about it and you will see do you really want to but do you want to move on and have more to what you are saying? It is the smallest change in vocabulary for basically what is a free gift of options to your life.

You see on the other hand of the butts, it is like the goat and so goats to contain them. so this is why the butting into things and this is the same use but, they are trapping them self smaller and smaller in a box of confusion say.

So have a good think about it and then you might see do you really want to let's stop doing this, but.
