I hear some of this point, there is much speculation in what you say though. If the left hand side of God this would mean God was duelling in his throne room. When I died and went there you had Buddha, Lao Tzu and other sages that proved them self's at God's left and at God's Right you have Christ and God; the same as a throne room is set up.

These are what people call the ascended master or elders in revelations. Now I will agree on that yes there is something in the bible it is trying to show the right hand side.

It runs all the way through and I could get you the scriptures, yet this is where Christ sits at the right hand side, as does the foaming cup of wine sent to the people get drunk on the dead prophets blood, according to revelations and where people drink wine figuratively drinking Christ blood.

The bible or maybe I should say God does not condone drinking.

This is where we have an error in translations as Christ said at the last supper "drink of the vine until the coming of the kingdom" not "I will not....."

He also said that anyone who gives a disciple any more than water will be

Why do I say this???

Well Christ was a Nazarite this is explained in numbers 6 and is for some people who give themselves to God. This means no drinking or coming near any dead flesh or

So would Christ go around teaching to drink is ok?

No!!! he didn't the book of John is all false, as far as I am concerned I could care less in the bit most people will; think as I am saying this i.e. the wedding feast where water to wine. So did Christ blatantly break the 5th commandment as I was told to his mother breaks this? Yet anyways, I don't accept John, as truth yet I accept the Pharisees.

So what am I trying to say?

That the test is God clearly condemns drinking; and the drinking of blood is being chucked out.

So what are people playing at?

Let's help them!

As how many attended Paul and John's made up communion and think the

You discuss the fall, what happens if the fruit falls off a tree it ferments

Now Eve eat fermented fruit what do we call this? Alcohol
What happen when you have a drink?
You eat the old you become the old!

No man drinks old wine and talks of the new for he says the old is better

People regress the talk about the past, they set them self in a cast.

Do you see what I am trying to say?

It is really tricky to see this as half the picture is covered as you have t
Simon peter that are Goats and you have the books of the disciples ect t closely.

Please ask the points that need explaining...
