Duality as in a mother has two eggs, these two children can be either ex thinking.

Or that in any extreme there is an exact opposite and that is duality...

So in a way to say there is a God implies to people there is a bad or dev mentioned I don't feel exists and didn't see in hell or anywhere in the af God from our commandments where possible to replace with one Good, w good when good is else we are not)

The two extremes in reality as is the after life, are Ego and Oneness.

Which works the other way around to our worldly think of it, as in we per yet it isn't like that it is that one is based on the other, you pass throug why the commandments are in dimensions to pass through.

Now with out reincarnation in our main stream thinking people don't reali of the doubt they will learn something from their own way of thinking.

That I is feel is anti-duality not to be able to look at both sides, it all ab said it.
