I hear you brother. And it is wrong. But why did God subdivide if not to create the condition where love could be shared? And is not the concept of Oneness the finest example of how love can be shared? "One love, we've got to share it, sisters and brothers." As we would not listen and do what we were told in the beginning, all that which we consider "suffering" is simply the result of learning life's lessons the hard way. Which we brought upon ourselves.
