Summary: Many of the world's religious followers are lead to follow cultism.

Many who are using the word religion, use it about cults that exist, and have been muddled on purpose.

A cult is a group of people with a charismatic leader, where it will generate trust in the leaders, and the group.

A religion is a group of people with a set of fundamental beliefs, that will help people, and to work to help their society.

It is shocking that our political system is also a huge Roman Republic cultism democracy i.e Rule of the People; we put forward some charismatic leaders, and everything that the last charismatic leader did.

Because it benefits the political system to maintain charismatic cultism, lets fix the religious infrastructure, so our society is more functional; in its cult followers, so each side then fights each other...

Until soon we will come to Armageddon, and then World War 3; where all who've been educated to follow cultism, will fight each other to the death.

That isn't a wise plan by humanity, and it is possible to fix religious infrastructure, need everyone to address the idea that true religion is useful; where we have ethical societal standards, and our belief about what is existence.

Now if we could all come to a more logical position between us, where we have the same basic fundamentals of existence; that is where civilization started, because of a lack of understanding.
