Summary: The Mustard Seed is quoted in most Religions and is about the hear, this may help!

Dhammapada Quote:

Like water on the leaf of a lotus flower Or a mustard seed on the point of a needle clinging. For he has reached the end of sorrow And has laid down his burden of things And sees their nature. He discriminates And reaches the end of the world. With those who have a home Nor with those who stray. Wanting nothing, he does not hurt anything. He never kills. He moves with love among the unloving, with the angry among the hungry and querulous. Like a mustard seed from the point of a needle he is free from lust, hypocrisy and pride. He offends no one. Yet he speaks the truth.

Upanishads Quote:

He who consists of the mind, whose body is subtle, whose form is light, whose nature is like the akasa, whose creation in this universe, who contains all pleasant odours, who is endowed with all tastes, who enters the ear and speaks and who is without longing! He is my Self within the heart, smaller than a grain of barley, smaller than a mustard seed, smaller than a speck of dust. My Self within the heart, greater than the earth, greater than the region, greater than all these worlds.

Bible Quote:

He put out another parable to them, saying, The kingdom of Heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field; which indeed is the least of all seeds, but which is the greatest among herbs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the heaven sit on its branches. (Mat 13:31-32)

And the Lord said, if you had faith as a grain of mustard seed, you might say to this sea, Be rooted up and be planted in the sea! And it would obey you.

21.47 . And we set a just balance for the Day of Resurrection so that no weight as small as a grain of mustard seed, though it be of the weight of a grain of mustard seed, We bring it. And We
