Thank you for the post and where you have led them as you start on reflection as I have realized....

You see do you find love or is love accepted?

When you first meet someone, what is it that draws them to you, what do you find out yet?

Like you say reflections, you have some one that fits yours...

So what is love in this case..?

As everyone is seeking this perfect partner....

Yet what is that?

A reflection of who they are is what they are looking for..

So I have been thinking along these lines as (don't take this bit as being really, a woman or partner, yet to understand this reflection that my heart beauty...

Hope that makes sense as yes the looks are different, yet inner core of a person attracts you and not the flesh..

Unless of course you still below 6th dimensional and think a body is real someone is without seeing this as Maya..

And merely a reflection of soul and the intrinsic details of who they are.

It all shows on the face and characteristics, depends on whom you are in front of you have the book of life, and sort of know these things maybe, tricky I know

As can everyone do this, you see a walk you count the beat, and the cycle of the bounce the form the person holds, and you have a good idea of the mood where they are heading and how they are likely to be if you approached them (all of that taken when I use to do surveys in the street and stop people, and answers of character from just the walk.

Helps with the sound, smile, lines of stress show evil and strains of this

Anyway off track.. the idea I am trying to get at really is this..Namaste i use the word...let me explain...namaste is to recognize the God within ev person you meet I bow to God that also is within you as God is all.

So....to continue...Brahma is God, the inner core, many discuss Shiva, V God's they are not they are mere reflections of the whole....

Now we are made in God's image does it not say, this is not physical and rude Christians who insist on idolatry and worshiping them self's as fles

Ok anyways sorry I am terrible for going off track, yet you are use to me

So what I am getting at is if we all are reflections of the one true core a centre can, and become its own reflector for others, where does love sto

You will have to ask where me, where I need to go over this?...if you can

So you to begin with you see someone you fancy, why they have qualities

You then accept them for the things they do, by what you know from your

Then you allow them in to your space, as you know they are on these sam who you are...

God is all the reflections and you are mere part of this...

So who do you love?

Why is there song "where is the love?

Want help and why doesn't the father send someone to help us"

Trying!

Why the points, well I hate doing this, yet Paul put it right when he says don't have so much time to dedicate for God..

We live in this sick society of lust and this thing we call love as we desi Desire is sin, 10th commandment, lust is 7th ....We feel consciousness i been trying to make us forget.

So in heaven why does it work, as we don't have these they are dimensio heaven, as to keep it perfect...

What are we doing down here..

We are selling looks to each other all the time, how can we realize that understanding where we are in these reflections of God is whom partner As seed would, each has a dynamic dna or gene so it is different, each p which is its reflection...
