Since in the English Bible we miss the word for unconditional love and the having masculine and feminine..in fact most major religion..perhaps the could have for unconditional love, within the English language and in all

It would make far more sense in a lot of cases and help in recovering a we have seen whilst reading some of the worlds religious texts, as intended

So my suggestion is Uniolove..being that all love stems from one and that

Also with two eggs as all spirituality is dual as left and right brain people days..which at one point didn't so we are getting somewhere when people and bring both concepts as one...as in two egg's of a women and the circle is most spirituality...

One being dogmatic and more religiously based..

The other being more based on freedom of the soul, yet both an equal and other...
