When I took the pen-name "the missing link", I did so upon the realization that we were seeded here by an "elder race". The second Bible Code book and the discovery of the Wingmakers' time capsule in New Mexico would seem to support this belief.

To take subjects one at a time, what are your thoughts on the Bible Code? I find it hard to contest. Yet, "I Am God" is translated. Acording to Zanda that's a big no no. Or is the spirit of the whole entitled to make such a claim? Is there an object burried that contains information that could change the World? Have we somehow written our own history in advance?

What do you think?
