I completely agree but something more than "ego" or "pride" is killing us may let go and realize that life doesn't value that which ego or pride cov and still die - why?

IMO - there are principles in motion that stand true since the beginning the body doesn't live by bread alone but from every word of God - sounds knowledge one will never survive - if you are lost in a forest or jungle - starting a fire or tying a wound you will eventually die. Now if given the guaranteed.

These principles are that the body can't live without the mind - but the m - think about this! Without hope - without positive influence how can any and positive stems from God and Jesus - every word that was laid out for your survival in this jungle we call Life. If you don't posses these instru committed a sin and the wages - the punishment of sin is death [Romans but because you did not prepare yourself - maybe because of a sale that coming up - that you did not even bother to save yourself.

Remember when you were younger - speaking to the older's here - you fe was something that could not be understood let alone happen - what happ we began to embrace this notion of dying - was it that everybody does it and sisters - it's we stop listening to our souls - we were without blemish matured we began to embrace negative thoughts and actions - little by li sins. To the youth - never leave Jesus - he will ensure health and beauty 11:26].

Here's something i picked up along my struggle against the forces of Des thought replace it immediately with a positive thought and be forgiving - mean with you it's because they are threatened by you and feel the need don't - know they are victims of their own doing and forgive them for bei

Be sinless and live forever - and don't forget the Commandments especia
