Title: Conversations
Subtitle: HOW TOXIC IS YOUR HOME?
Second Subtitle: Re: HOW TOXIC IS YOUR HOME?
Author: healthysuccess
Date: 1121807262
URL: https://www.wizanda.com/modules/newbb/viewtopic.php?topic_id=15

Okay, that really ends like a sales pitch. That is not what I meant it to working with has a mission. That is to let people know how toxic many o are. Here is some information from an article written by By Dr. George G Toxicologist/Analytical Chemist/Microbiologist
Founder of the International Academy of Wellness

"More children under four die of accidental poisonings at home than are at home. The average home today contains more chemicals than were fou lab. Go into your kitchen and your bathroom and look under your sinks w and personal care supplies. What have you found? Window cleaner? Blea detergent? Shampoo? Toothpaste? If you read the label on toothpaste, it paste!

These products can be violent lethal poisons with the potential to kill or Most dishwashing detergents include naphta, which is a central nervous diethanolamine, a possible liver poison, and chlorophenylphenol, a metab considered a toxic substance.

Of all chemicals commonly found in homes, 150 have been linked to aller and psychological abnormalities. We have a higher rate of kids with canc than ever. If that doesn't say we're doing something wrong in our environ takes! According to the American Cancer Society, there has been a 26 pe over the last 2 decades!

You should also be concerned about the air that you and your children br and some personal care products release toxic vapors into the air when t when they are stored. Children may be particularly vulnerable to chemica air per pound of body weight than adults, and because pollutants are gen collect closer to the floor, small children breath greater concentrations t

This also includes our beloved animal companions. What are we doing to

I just want people to think about what products they are using, and find alternatives.
If you are having trouble finding quality products, at a decent expense, c information about a company that cares. Any personal information you g CONFIDENTIAL.