the Creator... hmmm. I respect your view. Let me tell you about a book on Vibrational Medicine. In this book he explains eastern medicine with western the FDA validated acupuncture in the 1940's! Won't see that advertised anywhere that meridians in the body were real they injected technetium into where they were. They then did a nuclear scan of the body. They found that those organ of the body, past it, not physically connected. They also did this found that there was an energy form before the physical body ever existed.
Food for thought. Where did that come from? One last point. Gregg Braden experiment that the Army conducted. They took a DNA sample from a living under a microscope, while observing it they stressed the subject, the DNA they move the subject to another room, stressed the subject again, DNA subject 400 miles away, stressed him again. Guess what? The DNA reacted.
Proven by western science. I hope this gives another perspective. God
