I came up with a nice saying yesterday that I thought looks appropriate for answers. Look within for truths."

It's all about what you truly believe... people will tell you this and that. decipher who you are, what you believe in and how it should be done. Who concur with you all here. Everyday should be a day of thanks, worship and you answers to your questions... It doesn't mean they are true, it's up to math! :) The world starts to look like a huge deception now.

Peace and love.
