Ok just to clarify,

There are 13 dimensions, a Quick list is this:

1 length, single strand this is what you use to see David, it is a single S

2 Width, Strand that has started to understand its self and remove EGO

3 Depth, so making images that you see this is the myriad of things.

4 Time and Space, yet in a linear time frame, this is movement to animat

5 Gravity, now this I do ponder as I keep being shown dreams from people energy in the center of the universe, well this is, its heavy, the quark as Through this dimension it makes the movement of the planets and we have to learn. Yet also through this as I am now beginning to realise it is also the dark women in Hinduism). So yes this may be a point of concern for us to see past this....how do you see past time you ask??? Well this is linear there is history; if you know where you have been you know where you are Buddha, Yeshua and others have successfully passed while here and understanding beginning to end in this life to begin with this take careful analyzing. This I checking it self, is more then that as at time in their life's, there has been unquestionably unreal or pre-known. so they only conclusion is to look at existence and to see the whole, at this point they realise there consciousness whole as consciousness and is one entity in its self. So then they remove oneness.

6 <----Is matter, now science hasn't got here yet, Einstein only went to 5 matrix as the film put it, as for things to exist they need all of these dimensions also called the Maya which is basically all is spirit and consciousness, w

7 We think in Anti-matter, its not here or there, consciousness is the same we act in 6.

8 is infinity as the number it self suggests, as something at some point moves so that means it could also choose something different, as it created the time it self.

9 is Chaos as it is outside of time and so therefore is random order of st

10 is the whole the matrix as things exist on a sub atomic level and on a dynamic field that is mathematical. So something must contain a dimension

11 is love as this in its self adds a dimension to life. Look at nature and in most species that find a mate and fall in love. Why would the painter unless this is the painter's style was this and there is such beauty and wonder that it shows through out the painting, in the dynamic that have been added

12 is wisdom as Dom is a place ie Kingdom, Freedom, it is the logic that Tao/Dao. Without logic the whole universe would fall to pieces, again each the others. So this is where many of the elders sit in heaven this is why glowing. As this dimension if you see contains all the others and so bright transcends the single line quark and has control of its surroundings. That with as being the EGO has now reflected in out and questioned every aspect other showing it understood what is meant. Love is also heaven and pass oneness as being free of desires helps other be like this.

13 is God, what is God? The center point of the whole universe, no longer middle reflection of everything, of every life forms and creature, all of it on in level 1. Yet also with out the central processor, God in the center song the universe; wouldn't be, as even logic has to come from somewhere is so special as yes we can added numerous other dimensions and say that yet really this is scientific in its approach as well, yet taken from the I-Ching and the Mythologies.
