Tuf and Tet have not and did not disappear from the Hebrew alphabet. I'm looking at, but it might be a good idea to get an Oxford's Hebrew-English. Paleo-Hebrew is identical to the the current alphabet, or alephbeit, and Christianity has nothing to do with with the language or the people and t

Ashkenazim, Jews of northern and eastern European culture pronounce T the rest of Jewery pronounce it as a T. Hebrew letters are actually pictog alephbeit, like an Aleph being two Yuds and a Hey on an angle. There ar with its own unique era and application. They do not correspond to the p the time or region.

Kol Tov,
