As many people around the world are confused by the word 'Faith' I should

Faith is a feeling

I have read articles by Christian related preachers who seem to have been said and think faith is turning up to church, or faith is another name for religion

It doesn't matter what religion it is, to have faith!

In all religions faith is the same and trust me I have studied and except

As when I was 15 I was asked to read all religions by God, The same as I questions me or persecutes me for having done so

Now if people don't realise belief and faith are two different things

Faith comes from the heart and is a feeling you don't even need religion

Where as belief is a set of ideas that comes from the mind

So the reason this site is called 'finding one true faith' is that in all beliefs the same

If you believe in God it takes a leap of faith to accept it, when God can't

It takes faith to believe that something can be accomplished

So as a world please if you read this help in spreading the truth

It's like Christ said if you have enough faith you can move a mountain and be equal with Christ according to him!!

Where as if we take Paul's version of faith it won't matter how much you trust a mountain won't move unless you believe with both your heart and your mind

Which takes faith!!
