This write up addresses three (3) particular elements of Christianity and viewed as faulty logic, errors in thinking and elements that hold humans growth needed to attain a more enlightened spirit and closer relationship errors are, #1 - Almost 100% of cults make a middleman or veil between this human filter is referred to as the logos in Greek. #2 - For many Christians sense that only those who follow Christ will gain salvation and/or go to heaven that he is the only way to God. #3 - The idea that all mortal humans are sinful, which produces a negative endless cycle of sin, repent, sin, repent etc, and divinity and doesn't allow people to believe they can make choices of good.

The #1 elemental error within Christianity it's very construction of logos in between the people and God. This tactic does make for a much more a religion because why not place a filter between God and the people? Because begin to comprehend what God is all about yet the filter (Jesus) can place a definable, position by which the people can comprehend and value. Another humans should know that they came from God, that God is within each human is purely eternal having no need for a logos. Do you not want that direct want a block between yourself and God? Having a direct connection to God one misguided, as having a direct, personal, and un-filtered connection to God interference from a person or sub element of God is a direct and true relationship no chance of mans personal agenda getting into that clear, bright, unadulterated.

The #2 elemental error within Christianity is the belief that Christians are going to gain salvation and/or enter heaven (Some Christians in fact refer to "chosen ones"). Having this exclusive belief places the believer in Christ under judgment by suggesting that ALL OTHERS ARE GOING TO HELL. Yet to judge biblical belief and being of a judgmental space is a manifestation of bad that Christians of all types are showing much higher levels of tolerance and are coming to a position in which it appears that many are beginning to do John 14.6.

The Bible's scripture of John 14.6, says, Jesus said to him, "I am the way one comes to the Father, but by me." A Newsweek Poll asked 1004 Americans who isn't of your religious faith go to heaven or attain salvation, or not? Evangelical Protestants said, "YES". An incredible 83% of the Non-Evangelical said "YES". And a near unbelievable 91% of Catholics polled said, "YES". (Newsweek August, 1995) https://www.beliefnet.com/story/173\)/.story\_17353\_1.html/.story_17353_1.html) said, the writing of it possibly skewed by the writers recording process or personal agendas, translations, time from when original recordings occurred, other forms of margins for error in the process of recording scripture. Like other religions have the same type of scripture saying that their book and perhaps ones ability to gain salvation and/or enter heaven is not based on religious following or sacred text, rather shall be based upon ones CHOICE.

The #3 elemental error in Christianity resides within faulty logic. That faulty logic is that ALL mortal humans are sinners and must repent. With such flawed thought ground towards closeness to God where they might be able to reach to God and reach to touch divinity. This belief also leads to a highly dysfunctional cycle of sin, repent, sin, repent and so on, leaving the person in a very negative state that never be exonerated from. More importantly is the very fact that this belief makes one be accountable for their actions. Since when can't we control ourselves? Can we be enough spiritually to realize that, "SIN, IS A CHOICE"? Because sin is a choice. And people can be and should be accountable for their CHOICES & ACTIONS. Why don't see through this faulty logic is unknown. Christianity is losing the ground of the religion and at a rate that they have never seen before, perhaps due to growth as this one. The sad thing is that the largest growth percentage is found in people feeling burned by so many man injected fusions of religions that don't exist and do something like this to them.

You are a temple within yourself; in your own right you have a soul and spirit. You are your interpreter, or veil or someone to sacrifice them for you. And you have a direct birth and life to have a pure, direct and personal connection to God. This is the way to total and utter enlightenment through taking actions and having a direct path walking in the light of God.

So know in your heart, spirit and soul that all people have the right and ability to connect to God, and know, that there is not just one religions or group who shall be accountable for your actions, as God most likely wants it this way.

God Speed,
