This post of yours is very well written, and contains much wisdom.

Such as: "Ok, you get hurt and want to say something back, but do you really want to come from that?"

No only god does, can you change their heart? No! you can only change your own heart. It doesn't change.

Only that little voice of god inside them can change them. So lets all learn to live in peace instead of being 'I' and egotistical for it is all vanities."

So true. Criticizing others is like criticizing the weather. It changes no one and makes everyone angry, and their defenses come up. Be gentle and show by example.

Another pearl of wisdom you wrote is this: "Meditation is needed ever day to reach a constant state of awareness, this is need as to be able to be still and true."

As in 'Be still and know that I am God'. In stillness there is being only, not a state of stillness and mere being, one finds peace from the fears of living. One can remain in a state of 'awareness' while in the midst of the hustle and bustle of life.

Here's another:

"Do not steal. Why steal? If we trusted as a family there would be no need to steal. Enough. Yet we all fall down to the 1st step and go 'I' want it is mine. No time and the trees and plants get what they need in due season so do we."

If we realized that karmically, to steal from the universe (others) is only to give to the universe (others) is to give to ourselves, surely we would find it very hard to remember that we probably have even more than we need, since we need more, and more, and more. And we start to feel we're missing something. The induced unhappiness that isn't real.

Very good stuff Wizanda.

If the mind subsides, the whole world subsides...

Peace.
