Joel 2:30-31 says it will go blood red before the day of the Lord.

Now It's Certain: The Supergiant Star Betelgeuse WILL Explode
Posted by Cristian Antonescu

Back in December last year, astronomers have been suspecting that the s Betelgeuse is about to explode. The cosmic object has become much dim even though it was among the brightest stars in the night sky. Being loca constellation, Betelgeuse will finally face its end and turn into a superno anymore, according to the latest data gathered by LIGO, the Laser Interf Observatory.

Thus, gravitational waves coming from Orion's direction have been detec

Betelgeuse's explosion could occur in the next several weeks

This is one hypothesis claimed by scientists, and among them is Edward

What's for sure is that the supergiant star will indeed explode, but we're happen. When it does, the supernova will be visible with the naked eye f bright as several stars on the night sky...
