God is the Source of reality, like a Universal Central Processor (CPU); within dense quantum physics.

Because the quantum physics is darkness, it allows for corruption within this realm everything breaks down eventually, and the bigger something is, the more it to become corrupted.

Though God could intervene, and stop evils within this realm, it could also be affected detrimentally by that interaction; so instead God tries to inspire us to overcome ourselves, so that we become stronger against the darkness, by finding the light.
