I Dude here, I am not sure what you're looking for. But evolution seems to be based on the work of Glenn Rose, Texas; and seen petrified dinosaur and human footprints.

Evolution has humans and dinosaurs, millions of years apart. The Smithsonian has a book of these petrified artifacts, and evidently destroyed them. Because they've been there since. Also the National Geographic goes around and buys stuff proving creationism too. It's never seen again.

Science can, and has proven creation. But Satanists control education. We are in serious trouble. We cannot compete with trillions of dollars, used by scientists, and used to destroy artifacts that prove the Bible and things that have infiltrated at all levels of society, to keep up the lie of evolution, while ignoring the evidence of creation. Only God can set this right. But when he comes back, whole continents might just disappear underground.

What exactly are you looking for? You know they found Noah's Ark on Mt. Ararat discovery a couple of times. Did you know that?
