Wow, This started when I was gone. I already told some of my ufo encounters. They are definatly real alright. nasa even has film footage of them. All you need to do is get out. Do a search on them, buy some videos, read a book or two. Stay open minded, be patient, patiently, start looking for them with intent.

As for the poster who is fed up with organized religion, praise God for that. He is somewhere. One thing I need to address, is not to give up on God, because He is beyond that, do not give up on developing your character of right doing. Romans 2:12-16 that many will be given eternal life who have never heard of him. They are their conscious and develop good characters by doing so. If ya get nothing out of it, protect your character.

I dont know why Gods spirit reveals itself to some, while others seem to be blind. I can only speak my testimony and its astonishing.. All I can say is dont get manipulated. I have been manipulated to make religion a travesty, and this destroys many in the world. They plan all along. Some here dont believe in the devil either, but I have net seen him. We us are engaged in warfare with this prick, and it calls for him to manifest himself. No problems believing after a while, theres just too much manifestation of his power. Do your own good doing.

I didnt have this, until I lost my wife, and my kids grew up and went to college. I myself retired with nothing to do, so I went to war with satan for abusing my faith. That opened up some experiences. Manifestations, ufos driving over me at a certain time of night. I even got surrounded by a bunch of satanists 2 yrs ago. I thought I was going to die. But suddenly I disappeared and reappeared 5 miles away from them. Dont know what happened, because I dont know. God did it evidently because it wasnt my plan. I left the churches about 15 yrs ago. Thats when I became a free thinker. I started learning things and having wondrous experiences, stuff books are made of. I was in organized religion, did it start to happen. However I never lost my faith. I know God is counting on you doing that.. But I say f-ck him, and keep your faith.. I know God is with you. Become crazy and intense about God giving you a sign.

Sometimes ya got to grab God by the hem of his garment, and refuse to let go of your request. Thats what I did 6 yrs ago when I found out they were mass murdering our own children. I went berserk. I fled to the mountains, got as high as I could, and cussed God out with every cuss word I knew for letting this happen. I then I started and cussed him out for doing this. I was so mad, and hurt, I wanted to die. I did it by myself and screamed at the top of my lungs, for weeks on end, with tears, cussing God and satan out at the same time. I was bound and determined to die. I didnt want to kill me. The truth had become too much for me, it split my personality, and I was

After a few months, I knew neither God or satan was going to kill me. But to me. It sent me to study Ufos, and metaphysical stuff. After 3 more yrs satan, and it hit big time. This drewed his wrath on me, but like I said, I 5 miles away. I got more than I bargened for, and then some.

My life has been changed forever, and I am in a permanat war with th. Which may be soon, if God stops protecting me. But My point is, I got so go about this issue of mass producing satanists from our own kids. I wag whats he do, he made me a magician of sorts, so I could go after the dev and hes given me protection from the devils wrath, because I am hurting. Its just shortning the days mostly, but at least thats something. If I can then fine, I will take that.

But there are ways to get to God. There are ways to get his attention. revealing himslf to you, and direct it right in his face, if thats what it ta by peace and love. But ya can find God other ways to. If I didnt cuss him my lungs for weeks, with tears running down my face; I wouldnt be where mean. Get adamant about it, not to defy God, but to challenge him about he is our pare3nt, talk to him like that.. If you need a revelation, then G ya gotta get tough at times, and I mean tough..If I can help in any way, e back. I am here to serve, I know several sides of our Father, maybe toge attention. I already have it, more that I need, my cup is not only full, bu start, untill I cussed him out for a long time. But thats me..Anywho let m
