Heaven on Earth

Subject: An address to the people and church leadership

In the summer of 2003 I had a several visions in which many messages a I have chosen to write about this experience in hopes of sharing these vi that we may together make for a better place on earth. And perhaps, with other, bring a more heavenly world about. I am not sure why these messa main message was very clear; Heaven is on Earth.

I believe that there are two facets to finding heaven on earth. The first b within oneself; a greater inner peace if you will. Secondly that being as globally for a more heavenly planet. Again, one man or woman can not d large group of people, with a vision, and the motivation to make dire cha our imaginations and make this vision a reality.

This memo has been drafted for all the different churches and belief syst share a unified finding in which will address a long standing need to beg to achieve the prior unthinkable; Heaven on Earth.

Such a goal may draw strict criticism from all corners of the world but al heaven that many, if not all of us have been reaching for since the begin step in the process of attaining this goal resides within the people and l and specifically in respecting each others beliefs. Until we learn to love beliefs, we will never reach a more divine existence upon earth.

Be aware of "Belief Tolerance" that is, a country, nation or group of peo spiritual beliefs residing in the same location in peace. While "Belief To Perhaps it is best to share that this vision comes from an all loving God, loves all races, religions and beliefs. Some basic principles which were

1. That all beliefs should respect each others beliefs peacefully

2. That each person is a temple within themselves

3. That together we can imagine and produce a more heavenly earth, but repeat history

4. That the choice of being positive, over being negative, creates positiv

This message is to urge church leadership to halt speaking down upon ot begin focusing on a more loving global message of cooperation. The truth God and it is now our mission to begin to carry out this loving message o this, our final approach, together. If you have come across this message group please do your best to spread the word. God Speed.
