i also said you can't fight fire with fire... you know that saying? well being decided to take it out of context, in a non jokingly way, and insult my intelligence you really could make fire lines etc... but oh well... that's why i study and work on my own... it seems to be the best way, the world's full of people who just take their chance they get, whether it be trying to get your money for saying the wrong thing then getting a divorce to take half of your properties. Even a broken clock is right as long as it still has hands :P)
